MR. AND MRS. O. J. SWANEY entertained handsomely a large party of friends on Friday evening.

THE Aetna Iron and Nail Company, Bridgeport, re-elected last week their entire old Board of Directors and officers.

THE industrious man getteth up in the morning and cleanness of his pavement, but the indolent man lieth in bed and curseth the weather.

MISS STELLA LAFFERTY, Ella

Kirk, Mary Pollock, and Emma Nichols, of Wheeling and Union townships, are attending Beaver College.

THEY have the scarlet fever at Steubenville. Two children out of one family died the same week, and a third child is down with the disease.

JACOB CASSELL, for many years a resident of Cadiz township, Harrison county, died at the residence of his son in Hopewale week before last, aged 82 years.

THE Bellville Tribune will appear in an enlarged form and printed on a power press, on the 3d of February. We are glad to note the prosperity of the Tribune.

A VEIN of oil has been punctured near Macksburg, Noble county, which is flowing over fifty barrels a day. It is said to be the best oil ever struck in the vicinity.

WRIGHT KINKY, of Washington township, while riding along the road on Thursday, was kicked by a horse which was being rode past him, and both bones of his leg fractured.

THE Jeffersonian recognizes the necessity of a Children's Home in Guernsey county, but is of the opinion that the expenditures for such an institution ought not to be incurred at this time.

YOUNG man, go west; go to St. Clairsville. It's chock full of good-looking young ladies. Ask Coen, Noble or Cushing about it. They were out there last Sunday.—[Wheeling Saturday Journal.

MR. JOHN W. GRAY, one of the oldest and wealthiest citizens of Steubenville, dropped dead on the streets of that city Sunday evening. Apoplexy is stated to be the cause of his sudden and unexpected demise.

THE Anchor Line Co. of U. S. Mail

Steamers have favored us with a very handsome calendar for 1881. The Steamers of this line sail weekly direct to and from New York and Glasgow and London.

WM. KIGER, living east of town on the Turk farm, while chopping wood on Monday, unfortunately cut his left arm very severely severing an artery.

Dr. Hewetson was called and dressed the wound. Kiger will be laid up for some weeks.

A TRISTLE on the B. & O. road spanning the creek near Franklin station, was washed out during the thaw on Thursday night. A bridge in position at the same point was put in shape early next day to permit trains to pass in safety.

PERSONS who have not paid their subscriptions, will do well to look at their receipts and see how far they are behind. This is the ending of an old volume—No. 52, which you will find at the head of the first page of this paper.

Your receipts are given for a given volume and number, and you can tell just how you stand by comparing the receipts with the paper. Those who have never been in to get a receipt would do well to call and get one and see what a "beauty" it is. Without joking, kind reader, we want to see all who are in arrears.

NOBLE COUNTY people are petitioning the Legislature for the repeal of the law which Senator Frank Atkinson had passed last winter, compelling the Commissioners of the county to levy a tax of $30,000 for the building of a Pike from the Belmont and Monroe county lines to Williamsburg.

NO MAN can do a fair business who does not advertise liberally. When a merchant gets something new he must let the public know about it. If he fails to do this the impression soon gets out that his goods are old, and the public avoids him. Advertise in the CHRON-ICLE and everybody will read it.

THE Immortal "J. N." will lift the world and assume all for truth in the Jan. 21. Ladies invited free of charge.

"J. N." is so well known in this neighborhood that a mere mention of his name is all that is necessary to fill the house for him. He wishes "a large crowd in order to assume all for truth."

Go and hear him.

THE Pittsburgh Stockman gives the following advice to owners of sheep, which may be of service to some of our readers:

Sheep which have been confined to grain and dry food should not be turned suddenly on dry grass which is covered with sleet or is mixed with freezing water. Their eagerness to obtain something green often causes them to gorge themselves, and sickness frequently follows the lodgment of icy food in the stomach.

WE neglected last week to make mention of the death on the 6th inst., of Mrs.

Mary Smith, mother of Mrs. Thos. E.

Clark of the National Hotel, at her home in Washington, Guernsey county, in the 60th year of her age. She had been a sufferer for several years from a paralysitic attack, during most of which time she was almost helpless. A husband

J. L. Smith the well known proprietor of the American House, Washington, and seven children, are bereft by this dispensation. Her funeral took place on the Friday after her death, and was attended by many sympathizing friends.

WE regret to chronicle the fact that

J. K. Shotwell, Esq., who has been conducting the Dry Goods establishment of Shotwell & Hogue, in Freeport, during the past year, has removed to Sumner in Belmont county. We do not like to lose any of our enterprising business men. Mr. Shotwell informs us that it was not for want of trade or prospects for future success that induced him to make the change, but it was brought about by other circumstances and business. He was a fine, wide-awake business man and made many friends while here who unite with us in wishing him abundant success in his new venture.—

DR. J. C. AYER & Co., of Lowell,

Mass., have favored us with a complete edition of their Almanacs for 1881, neatly bound in one volume. Turning to its contents we find ourselves prepared to discuss the weather with our afternoon callers in English, German, Dutch, Norwegian, Swedish, French, Spanish, Portuguese, and Bohemian. We have as yet only perused the English version, and to it we are pleased to give our unqualified endorsement. Though Ayer's Almanac has long been recognized as a standard American work, yet it makes its advent each year with all the vigor and freshness of a first appearance. We comment it to our readers as a work replete with valuable information.

THE following will show the extent of the manufacture of cigars in this, the Fifteenth Revenue District, for the past year:

Belmont county.....$381,750

Monroe.....1,963,700

Harrison.....418,600

Total.....4,444,000

The following are the places where the largest number was manufactured:

Clarington made.....1,650,100

Barnesville made.....1,640,100

Bridgeport made.....1,583,250

Bellaire made.....1,251,500

The following are the largest manufacturers:

N. Little & Co., Bridgeport, made 927,000

Jos. T. Hinton, Barnesville, made 920,300

B. H. Mallory, Clarington, made 772,000

MONDAY morning about half-past 6 o'clock, the boiler in the brick works owned and operated by J. F. Ball, at Sloan's station, exploded, and the works were blown to atoms. The explosion was terrific, and the report was heard for three miles around the place. At the time of the explosion only three men were at work, and every one of them were injured, as follows: William Fagan had his left leg broken in two places, and his body bruised and mashed. W. C. Dunlevy had his left leg maimed in and received several ugly cuts about the head, and was thrown a considerable distance. Cooper Stilwell, the engineer, was knocked down and badly bruised about the head, but no bones were broken. Pieces of the boiler or works were thrown several hundred yards from the scene of the accident.

The damage to property is not yet known.

ON Tuesday of last week a man named Robert Mills, residing in Bellville, was terribly scalded by his wife, who threw hot concentrated lye into his face and eyes, and his right eye is probably destroyed, while his entire face is frightfully burned. On Thursday a warrant was issued and her arrest made. The woman was taken before the Mayor where she pleaded guilty, whereupon the Mayor bound her over to court in the sum of $200. She was placed in jail in the place on Friday. While being examined before the Mayor in Bellville she was asked why she had committed such a crime, and she boldly and fearlessly asserted that she had stood more from her husband than she would stand from her husband, and that if she has to go to the penitentiary she will be in peace there. She is the mother of eight or ten children, a number of whom were placed in the Children's Home a few days ago.

LAST Sunday night two men confined in the Moundsville jail for housebreaking, made their escape.
